Important Health Warning About Playing Video Games

Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these “photosensitive epileptic seizures” while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures. The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by taking the following precautions:

- Sit farther from the television screen.
- Use a smaller television screen.
- Play in a well-lit room.
- Do not play when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

Thank you for purchasing Chromehounds™. Please note that this software is designed for use with the Xbox 360™ video game and entertainment system from Microsoft®. Be sure to read this software manual thoroughly before you start playing.

NOTE: This product is a work of fiction. Any similarities to actual people, organizations, and events are purely coincidental.

In the late 1980s, peace held the world in check with a tenuous grasp.

Two of the world's superpowers faced off in lock step as mutual fear of nuclear war bonded them in a silent agreement for years.

However, a single devastating calamity brought an end to that uneasy balance. Deep rooted distrust and ignorance of one another led mankind down the foolish path to a third world war.

Twenty years have passed since that day.

The endless warring and struggles gave birth to unprecedented weapons of war – the machines known as “HOUNDS” redefined the rules of battle.

BACKGROUND HISTORY

Emergence of Solar Flares

The phenomenon of solar flares expansion which produced radio interference on a global scale was first reported in 1980. Due to the delayed identification of the cause, confusion spread across the globe. Consequently, this suspended the logistics of products and materials around the world, which led to regional riots and looting. Several nations fell into a state of anarchy because their governments' chains of command were paralyzed by the disasters. With lack of order and control, the war situations all over the world fluctuated. However, weapons such as ballistic missiles (nuclear weapons) and air units became unreliable in the aftermath of solar flares.

U.S.S.R.

In the U.S.S.R., due to the delayed understanding of its domestic situations, the suspension of information functions was prolonged. Consequently, the U.S.S.R. suffered a historic defeat in Afghanistan due to fierce defiance by anti-government forces. Furthermore, its region was invaded by Afghan troops (Bagram War). Also in its western region, conflicts with the three Baltic states intensified, each desiring their independence. As the U.S.S.R. maintained its tough stance, the war intensified and spread to East and North Europe (East European War).

U.S.A.

When violence erupted in various parts of the country, the U.S.A. declared a national state of emergency and successfully kept damages to a minimum under the strong leadership of their president. Since then, the U.S.A. prioritized domestic reconstruction and declared isolationism based on Neo-Monroeism by withdrawing its fleets from the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans and redeploying them to local territories in response to the increasing threat to Homeland Security.

Asia

In China, a shortage of materials triggered frustration against the central government. Riots throughout the nation developed into a state of near civil strife. Although the government quelled them by military means, the imbalance of commodities was unresolved due to their old-fashioned method of distribution. At the time, the government had to respond to both domestic and foreign (Central Asia) issues which consequently forced the national/regional modernization process in Asia.

In the meantime, Japan lost most of its American backing and decided to approach China for its national security and supply of resources.

Europe

With much cooperation among Eastern/Central European countries, the Western nations struggled to overcome the crisis of the solar flares, and had difficulties securing enough resources for reconstruction. While the U.S. and U.S.S.R. both relaxed their foreign policies in the Middle East to resolve their domestic issues, Eastern/Central countries took it as a good opportunity to gain control of oil resources and intensified their intervention to the ongoing Iran-Iraq War. However, they also announced a policy of non-interference in the Baltic War of Independence.

Middle East

The Iran-Iraq War began in 1980 and started to shift toward the advantage of Iran due to the delay of U.S.A.-U.S.S.R. intervention. But Iraq regained momentum with the assistance of Western nations who regarded this as a chance to strengthen their ties in the Middle East.

NEROIMUS

THE THREE NATIONS OF NEROIMUS

Democratic Republic of Tarakia

Area: 68,540km²
Population: 4,520,000
Capital: Xeres
Ethnicity: Mixed
Language: English
Religion: Multi-religion/Denominational
Head of State: President (4yr term)
Gov. Type: Republic
Industries: Farming, Iron & Steel, Machinery
Currency: Tarakian Dollar

A multi-ethnic nation located in the Western region of Neroimus. Although the nation declared independence after the Eastern European War (1981-92), the connections with its Western European allies to counter the Ex-Soviet/Afghan power within Neroimus is hard to deny. Since the War of Black Sea (1998-2000), the nation has been heavily supported by the U.S.A. which was interested in expanding into their Eurasian diplomacy. Tarakia is more modern and democratic compared to its neighbors in Neroimus, but it struggles to find a common consensus within the country.

RAFZAKAEL

A secret society founded by arms developers from around the world. With its powerful connections to every conceivable country, organization, and movement, they have access to just about anything related to war. They are rumored to have their own military which is dispatched to various war fronts to "control the market."

Republic of Morskoj

Area: 62,380km²
Population: 3,580,000
Capital: Ostrov
Ethnicity: Native of Morskoj, others
Language: Morskavian, Russian
Religion: Russian Orthodox, others
Head of State: President (4yr term)
Gov. Type: Republic
Industries: Mining, Timber, Farming, Metallurgy
Currency: Isra

The former Soviet state is located in the Eastern region of Neroimus. The people of Morskoj are now independent, but suffered many hardships as a minority when the U.S.S.R. had control. Geographically, the country is covered with rigid mountainous areas which were once rich with mining resources. Morskoj currently faces a state of tension against the Great Soviet Socialist Republic who is scheming for a reunion. However, the nations are on much friendlier terms with the Republic of Russia who is also in opposition towards the G.S.S.R.

Kingdom of Sal Kar

Area: 20,800km²
Population: 2,280,000
Capital: Kaffa
Ethnicity: People of Sal Kar
Language: Karic
Religion: Sal Kari State Religion
Head of State: Prime Minister
Gov. Type: Limited Monarchy
Industries: Oil, Gas
Currency: Ziyad

The extended history of the Sal Kari Dynasty is rooted to the ancestors of the great Ottoman Empire. Historically, the nation experienced a prolonged period of hardship since their kingdom's fall, but recovered greatly during the period when the Middle East was reorganized. Despite the fact that this nation was forced to depend on imported foods and consumer goods due to the nation's size and desert land, the world quickly turned its attention to Sal Kar since their abundant underground resources were discovered. Religiously, the nation pledges not to fight a war, but its military arrangements are aggressively updated.

List all of the current members of your squad. By selecting one of the members on the list, you may send a mail, conduct a trade, and view their player information such as their HOUND and medals. The squad leader may also remove you here.

SQUAD PROFILE

Adjust the Squad Profile before you create or search for a squad. Leave the settings to ANY if your squad is willing to recruit any type of players, otherwise, please change the preference of each setting. The RT-specific settings will assist you/your squad with the recruiting process – set the RT-specific setting ON if you are recruiting or applying for any particular RT(s).

SQUAD EMBLEM / COLOR

Register and make available your previously saved emblem/color you've created in the Garage for your entire squad.

HISTORY

Time, date, and description of the battle records and team related affairs.

WITHDRAW FROM SQUAD

Leave the team to join/create another squad.

TRADE ROOM

Enter the trade room to make a trade with other member of your squad. Trades are made with one's parts, pattern, emblem, Assembly Data, and money.

EXILE

Option to join another country when your affiliated country is eliminated in the campaign. Note that the option is a squad-based decision, only available to the founder of the squad.

NEROIMUS WAR

Neroimus War is an online campaign mode you can participate in, as a member of a squad that represents your affiliated country. Your squad will battle against squads representing the other two nations in Neroimus. Squads are rewarded with funds whenever they win a battle, and this income will keep the members equipped for the next battle. Note that you can play against COM enemies for less rewards and merit.

The war will continue until two of the three nations are annexed; however, the campaign will reset to its pre-war condition if the war is undecided for over a two-month period.

SERVER MAINTENANCE

When the outcome of the Neroimus War is decided, the Chromehounds server will require a maintenance period to set up the next campaign. During such maintenance, you will be limited as to what you can access from the Main Lobby, or may not be able to access Xbox Live at all.

NEROIMUS MAP

At a glance, the map of Neroimus (see right) when you enter the Neroimus War will immediately display the real-time situation of the war. The battles will take place in the border Areas where your squad and enemy squads can infiltrate from the routes displayed on the map. The pink Areas are the capitals of the respective countries, and when a nation loses its capital, the nation will cease to exist in the campaign.

OCCUPYING THE AREA

Squad-based battle is fought in one of the Battlefields of an Area. Each Battlefield has its territorial ratings that determine which country controls the Battlefield. Winning a battle on enemy turf will decrease the power and control of the enemy in that particular field. The Area is surrendered to another country if the infiltrating squads successfully conquer more than half of the Battlefields in that Area.

BUDGET AND FUNDING

Regardless of the outcome of your battles, your squad will need to pay for the ammunition, fuel, and damages of the HOUNDS. In addition to the victory rewards, there is a larger budget system on the national level determined by the number of occupied Areas. Increases in the defense budget will allow your government to develop advanced weapons and parts for the HOUNDS, and raise the rates of your victory rewards.

JOINING A MISSION

There are three ways to enter a Neroimus War battle:

- Rendezvous with Squad
Join your squad members who have already set up a mission.
- Search for Missions
Search for available missions hosted by an opponent nation based on your match preference.
- Launch Mission
Create a mission in the available Area/Battlefield for others to join.

BRIEFING

You will report to the squad's briefing screen once you've joined or created a mission. Check the map of the Battlefield and discuss the strategies with your members using voice chat and Set Markers (icons to pin-point the map). The Headquarters (starting point) of the squad will be set up by the host player who has the Set HQ option. Enter the Garage if you need to modify your HOUND, and select Ready when you are prepared.

BATTLE OBJECTIVES

In the Neroimus War campaign, the objective of your mission is to seek and destroy all enemy HOUNDS or to destroy the correct enemy Headquarters before the enemy does. If the battle is not determined within the given time limit, the squad that seizes the most COMBAS on the Battlefield wins. The battle ends in a draw if both sides have the same number of COMBAS. In the event of a draw, the victory is decided by the number of surviving team members, or number of COMBAS attained.

DEBRIEFING

Check the results of the battle and your squad's statistics at the conclusion of the battle. If your squad was victorious, decide how to split the rewards amongst the squad members.
